

AMARILLO DAILY NEWS

VOL. IV. NO. 225.

AMARILLO DAILY NEWS, THURSDAY MORNING, JULY 23, 1914.

PRICE FIVE CENTS

MEXICAN PEACE SEEMS FAR OFF

EXTERNAL AND INTERNAL COMPLICATED RAPIDLY EX-TANGLE SITUATION

VILLA STILL HOLDS ALOOF

England, France and Spain Preparing to Press Claims Unless Huerta Contracts Are Respected

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 22.—Peace for Mexico is far from assured; complications both internal and international are rapidly entangling the situation. American officials, diplomats and Mexicans of both factions here believe.

Official reports reveal a most threatening factor in the aloofness of Villa from the authority of Carranza. Another vexing point is Carranza's reported disinclination to grant amnesty to political offenders and insistence upon unconditional surrender of the Carbajal government.

Foreign complications are looming up between Mexico and England, France and Spain who had financial relations with the Huerta government.

England is preparing to ask satisfaction for the killing of William S. Benton. France is protesting over the killing of two French citizens in Zacatecas and the Spanish government is anxious that Spaniards driven from their losses.

Reliable advice to the Washington government say Villa is concentrating troops preparatory to vigorous demands on Carranza.

Haitian Rebels Executed

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 22.—A large number of Haitian rebels were summarily executed at Cape Haitien today after the government forces won a fierce two hour battle in the streets with five hundred revolutionaries who entered the garrison this morning before the city was aware.

Some reports say as many as 500 were executed.

Arms Truce Signed.

MEXICO CITY, Mex., July 22.—That an armistice between the government and Constitutionalists was signed tonight and hostilities are to be suspended immediately throughout the republic was the statement tonight of Gen. Eduardo Iturbide, governor of the federal district, in the name of President Carbajal.

Forest Fire Threatens

By Associated Press.
OLYMPIA, Wash., July 22.—A report received at the State Forestry office tonight, from Warden of Kitsap county says a forest fire of threatening proportions is burning back of the Bremerton and Puget Sound navy yards. The powder magazine is in danger.

ROOSEVELT INDORSES HINMAN PROGRESSIVE FOR GOVERNOR

By Associated Press.
OYSTER BAY, L. I., July 22.—The candidacy of ex-Senator Harvey D. Hinman for the gubernatorial nomination in the republican primaries was endorsed tonight by Col. Roosevelt.

In a statement Roosevelt calls upon "all good citizens no matter what their party affiliations" to join in support of the state ticket, declaring the prime need of New York is for "a good citizens movement."

HEAT WAVE OVER "MIDDLE MIDDLE WEST"

By Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Ill., July 22.—The whole Middle West and Great Lakes region suffered today the mid-summer heat reaching its maximum of 100° in Kansas where a hundred were dead.

Sixty deaths are attributed to heat, some two dying by suicide believed to be due to mental derangement on account of the heat.

RESUME CONSIDERATION OF ADMINISTRATION MEASURES

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 22.—Upon the instance of Senator Borland, the Senate today resumed consideration of the interstate trade regulation bill, the first of the administration's anti-trust legislative measures. After an all day session, it was still not quite ready with a perfected measure to regulate the issuance of securities by a common carrier.

CHILDREN KILLED IN HEAD ON COLLISION

By Associated Press.
WESTPORT, Conn., July 22.—Four children were killed and 21 injured in a head-on collision here yesterday on a Sunday school excursion trailer with a freight. None of the injured are believed to be critical.

H. H. ROGERS ESTATE VALUED OVER $40,000,000

By Associated Press.
NEW YORK, N. Y., July 22.—The late Henry H. Rogers, the Standard Oil millionaire, left an estate of over forty nine millions in this state. Ogden Mills, left over thirty six million according to official appraisals today.

Senor Francesco Carbajal, New President of Mexico

Francesco Carbajal, a jurist of note in Mexico, who has heretofore been too wise to engage in politics there, finds himself all of a sudden president of the country. General Huerta named him foreign minister, and under the Mexican constitution, the foreign minister succeeds to the presidency in case of a vacancy. Huerta having resigned and fled, Carbajal is president. He may not remain such very long, he has little hope of continuing for more than a few weeks.

At the time he found himself in the place the question was whether or not he would surrender quietly to the constitutionalists, now marching on the capital or would try a defense and be driven out. It was the expectation that he would act only till the rebels could take formal possession of the government.

Twice during the session today, there were exciting scenes. As Carbajal left the court today, many hands were outstretched to him, some friends and others strangers.

MINERS STRIKE BECOMES ISSUE

ELECTION JUDGES WILL NOT BE ALLOWED TO ADVISE AS TO POLITICS

COLORADO PROGRESSIVES DECLARE OPPOSITION TO "INVISBLE GOVERNMENT"

SHOTGUN USED WITH FATAL EFFECTS IN PRESENCE OF WIFE OF VICTIM

Special to The News.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., July 22.—The first State Assembly of Colorado Progressives was held here today, and Edward P. Costigan, designated for governor discussed the coal strike as a political issue.

The assembly declared a determination to reject all offices of fusion with any party, enunciated opposition to an "invisible government" and the adoption of a platform was left to candidates who will be selected at the fall primaries.

Roosevelt, Pinchot and other national progressive leaders were cheered repeatedly by the delegates.

Mr. Keeling's ruling was made to R. W. Jeter at Plantersville, who asked the question of W. P. Lane, Controller, and a prohibition candidate for Congressman of Large. The letter to Mr. Jeter is as follows:

Attorney General's Opinion.

NEW YORK, July 22.—Representatives of numerous religious denominations, including both clergy and laymen, sailed from this city today to attend the world church peace council which is to be held early next month in Switzerland. The council is intended as a preliminary step toward a church peace conference of momentous proportions to be held in 1916 at the time of The Hague Peace Conference.

It is understood that the congress will be held under the auspices of the Laurels Peace Union, which was founded by Andrew Carnegie recently with an endowment of $2,000,000.

The union was organized that the clergy might be used as a medium towards bringing about arbitration of international disputes. Dr. David H. Greer, Protestant Episcopal Bishop of New York, is the president of the union and among its eminent members are Cardinals Gibbons and Farley.

Mr. Keeling's ruling was made to R. W. Jeter at Plantersville, who asked the question of W. P. Lane, Controller, and a prohibition candidate for Congressman of Large. The letter to Mr. Jeter is as follows:

Section 94 is as follows:

"Not more than one person at the same time shall be permitted to occupy any one compartment, voting booth or place prepared for a voter, except when a voter is unable to preface his ballot from inability to read or write or physical disability, two judges or an interpreter. If he can not both read and speak the English language, shall assist him, they having been first sworn that they will not suggest by word or sign or gesture how the voter shall vote, that they will confine their assistance to answering his questions to naming candidates and the political parties to which they belong, and that they will prepare his ballot as the voter himself shall direct. The judges shall be of different political parties, if there be such judges present, and an election supervisor or superintendents may be present, but must remain silent, except in case of irreconcileable violation of the law."

"From these two provisions of the election law relating to this subject we arrive at the following conclusion:

Can Not Give Information.

The person offering to vote must have made up his mind in regard to how he should vote. He must have informed himself as to all the political issues involved in the campaign, as to the fitness and qualifications of all candidates offering their names in the campaign, and no information can be furnished to the voter as to where they live and as to what political principles they stand for, physical part. All the election judge having been performed when he assists the voter in making out his ballot. This assistance contemplated does not go to the intellectual part of the transaction at all, but to the physical part. All the election judge can do is to mark the ballot as the foreign nations were not invited to send special embassies to the coronation as is usually the custom. Two nations existed for the omission of this feature of the coronation programme. The first was the long and difficult journey which most of the foreign envoys would have been obliged to take in order to reach Tehran. The second, and principal reason was that the Persian government did not care to incur the great expense for the entertainment of the foreign visitors, in view of the depleted condition of the national treasury.

The coronation was attended, however, by all of the leading men of the nation and by many of the Persian representatives abroad. Among those present were Gen. Mahdi Khan, the Persian minister at Washington, and H. H. Tropman, the consul-general of Persia in New York.

(Continued on Page two.)

CAILLAUX LEAD FIGURE IN TRIAL

ATTEMPT BY GOVERNMENT TO DISCREDIT HIM RESULTS IN HIS TRIUMPH

INJECTS POLITICAL SIDE DOMINATION OF MORGAN

Exciting Scenes Twice During Day's Session and Main Anxious to Show Their Friendship For Him

By Associated Press.

PARIS, France, July 22.—Joseph Caillaux, former premier, was again today the central figure in the court charge of murder for killing Gassac Calmette, editor of the Figaro on March 16.

At the opening of court the prosecutor said he was authorized by the government to declare that the government documents referred to yesterday didn't exist. Instead of discrediting the premier, however, the incident ended in his triumph.

M. Delanoë, counsel for the Calmette family said, "The incident closed to the satisfaction of Caillaux, but to my mind, it was nothing but a clever diversion." It pleased Caillaux to transform a criminal trial into that of a political cause.

Twice during the session today, there were exciting scenes. As Caillaux left the court today, many hands were outstretched to him, some friends and others strangers.

Once during the session today, there were exciting scenes. As Caillaux left the court today, many hands were outstretched to him, some friends and others strangers.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 22.—Caillaux, former premier, was again today the central figure in the court charge of murder for killing Gassac Calmette, editor of the Figaro on March 16.

At the opening of court the prosecutor said he was authorized by the government to declare that the government documents referred to yesterday didn't exist. Instead of discrediting the premier, however, the incident ended in his triumph.

M. Delanoë, counsel for the Calmette family said, "The incident closed to the satisfaction of Caillaux, but to my mind, it was nothing but a clever diversion." It pleased Caillaux to transform a criminal trial into that of a political cause.

Twice during the session today, there were exciting scenes. As Caillaux left the court today, many hands were outstretched to him, some friends and others strangers.

Once during the session today, there were exciting scenes. As Caillaux left the court today, many hands were outstretched to him, some friends and others strangers.

By Associated Press.

PARIS, France, July 22.—Joseph Caillaux, former premier, was again today the central figure in the court charge of murder for killing Gassac Calmette, editor of the Figaro on March 16.

At the opening of court the prosecutor said he was authorized by the government to declare that the government documents referred to yesterday didn't exist. Instead of discrediting the premier, however, the incident ended in his triumph.

M. Delanoë, counsel for the Calmette family said, "The incident closed to the satisfaction of Caillaux, but to my mind, it was nothing but a clever diversion." It pleased Caillaux to transform a criminal trial into that of a political cause.

Twice during the session today, there were exciting scenes. As Caillaux left the court today, many hands were outstretched to him, some friends and others strangers.

Once during the session today, there were exciting scenes. As Caillaux left the court today, many hands were outstretched to him, some friends and others strangers.

By Associated Press.

PARIS, France, July 22.—Joseph Caillaux, former premier, was again today the central figure in the court charge of murder for killing Gassac Calmette, editor of the Figaro on March 16.

At the opening of court the prosecutor said he was authorized by the government to declare that the government documents referred to yesterday didn't exist. Instead of discrediting the premier, however, the incident ended in his triumph.

M. Delanoë, counsel for the Calmette family said, "The incident closed to the satisfaction of Caillaux, but to my mind, it was nothing but a clever diversion." It pleased Caillaux to transform a criminal trial into that of a political cause.

Twice during the session today, there were exciting scenes. As Caillaux left the court today, many hands were outstretched to him, some friends and others strangers.

Once during the session today, there were exciting scenes. As Caillaux left the court today, many hands were outstretched to him, some friends and others strangers.

By Associated Press.

PARIS, France, July 22.—Joseph Caillaux, former premier, was again today the central figure in the court charge of murder for killing Gassac Calmette, editor of the Figaro on March 16.

At the opening of court the prosecutor said he was authorized by the government to declare that the government documents referred to yesterday didn't exist. Instead of discrediting the premier, however, the incident ended in his triumph.

M. Delanoë, counsel for the Calmette family said, "The incident closed to the satisfaction of Caillaux, but to my mind, it was nothing but a clever diversion." It pleased Caillaux to transform a criminal trial into that of a political cause.

Twice during the session today, there were exciting scenes. As Caillaux left the court today, many hands were outstretched to him, some friends and others strangers.

Once during the session today, there were exciting scenes. As Caillaux left the court today, many hands were outstretched to him, some friends and others strangers.

By Associated Press.

PARIS, France, July 22.—Joseph Caillaux, former premier, was again today the central figure in the court charge of murder for killing Gassac Calmette, editor of the Figaro on March 16.

At the opening of court the prosecutor said he was authorized by the government to declare that the government documents referred to yesterday didn't exist. Instead of discrediting the premier, however, the incident ended in his triumph.

M. Delanoë, counsel for the Calmette family said, "The incident closed to the satisfaction of Caillaux, but to my mind, it was nothing but a clever diversion." It pleased Caillaux to transform a criminal trial into that of a political cause.

Twice during the session today, there were exciting scenes. As Caillaux left the court today, many hands were outstretched to him, some friends and others strangers.

Once during the session today, there were exciting scenes. As Caillaux left the court today, many hands were outstretched to him, some friends and others strangers.

By Associated Press.

PARIS, France, July 22.—Joseph Caillaux, former premier, was again today the central figure in the court charge of murder for killing Gassac Calmette, editor of the Figaro on March 16.

At the opening of court the prosecutor said he was authorized by the government to declare that the government documents referred to yesterday didn't exist. Instead of discrediting the premier, however, the incident ended in his triumph.

M. Delanoë, counsel for the Calmette family said, "The incident closed to the satisfaction of Caillaux, but to my mind, it was nothing but a clever diversion." It pleased Caillaux to transform a criminal trial into that of a political cause.

Twice during the session today, there were exciting scenes. As Caillaux left the court today, many hands were outstretched to him, some friends and others strangers.

Once during the session today, there were exciting scenes. As Caillaux left the court today, many hands were outstretched to him, some friends and others strangers.

By Associated Press.

PARIS, France, July 22.—Joseph Caillaux, former premier, was again today the central figure in the court charge of murder for killing Gassac Calmette, editor of the Figaro on March 16.

At the opening of court the prosecutor said he was authorized by the government to declare that the government documents referred to yesterday didn't exist. Instead of discrediting the premier, however, the incident ended in his triumph.

M. Delanoë, counsel for the Calmette family said, "The incident closed to the satisfaction of Caillaux, but to my mind, it was nothing but a clever diversion." It pleased Caillaux to transform a criminal trial into that of a political cause.

Twice during the session today, there were exciting scenes. As Caillaux left the court today, many hands were outstretched to him, some friends and others strangers.